

DANCE EDUCATION PROGRAMMING FOR SCHOOLS

The Joyce Theater Foundation has had a strong commitment to students, teachers, school communities, and families through community engagement and dance education since the organization was founded in 1982.

The Joyce Theater becomes an extension of the classroom with our unique collaboration among schools, the theater, and dance companies from around the world! Our school-time programming is open to 1st-12th grade students in public, independent, and charter schools located in the New York City metropolitan area. Designed as a key tool for arts integration in the classroom, our program fosters an understanding of dance, dance aesthetics, and encourages the imagination through inquiry and experiential learning.

DID YOU KNOW...?

- The Joyce Theater has provided dance education to New York City students since 1984.
- Each year approximately 3,000 students experience a live dance performance.
